Site Visit with a Purpose:
RRPS Nails It with High School Level
Career Technical Program

Join the Facility Manager Association of New Mexico at 7:30 am on Wednesday morning, July 20th, 2022 for coffee and a breakfast burrito and an on-site tour of an emergent training facility aimed at introducing students in the Rio Rancho Public Schools to opportunities for careers in the facilities and construction trades.

Targeted to open in Fall 2023, this innovative program will focus on providing students with a comprehensive look at the construction industry and its many fields. Students in the program will begin with tool safety, personal protective equipment (PPE), and property management as they earn OSHA 10, CPR, and First-Aid certifications. Students will then apply their new skills using additional hands-on learning techniques in various areas of construction, including electrical, plumbing, heating and cooling. This program will also focus on project management so students can apply concepts, scheduling, and quality control to real-world construction professions and job sites.

There exist many career opportunities for students who complete this Mixed Construction program, including: Electrician, Plumber, HVAC Specialist, Construction Foreman, Property Manager, General Contractor, Carpenter, among others.

Directly in alignment with the mission of FMANM whose greater goal is to raise scholarship funds and awareness to encourage people to enter the trades, this will be a fun and informative event. Leading the site visit is Lawrence Davis, CTE Director. Meet the group at the 74,000 square foot facility located at 7001 Zenith Court NE in Rio Rancho, New Mexico promptly at 7:30 am. More information on this endeavor can be found on the Rio Rancho Schools website at cte.rrps.net.

Reggie's Rant

Patience is the key in today's world!

We're often asked what can we do about this or that, whether its rising prices, supply chain issues, or hiring/finding qualified people. The list is numerous. I can't remember a time where there were so many challenges laid before us as we have now. Even living through the 70's with gas shortages and 21% prime interest rates, it did not seem as challenging as this. So, what do we do about "all" of this? The answer is a simple one: be patient. This (all) too shall pass. It always does. This country is too strong to not overcome. We tossed the Britts and French. We lost over 600,000 people in a civil war with brothers fighting brothers. America has survived 2 world wars. The financial part of all of this for business and personal decisions is always the same: tighten the belt. The supply chain issue is what it is. All of us need to lower expectations concerning timing of projects and when some items will ship/arrive. Worrying or stressing about things out of your control will not help.

What I'm trying to say here is: it will be ok. Projects will get done, products will show up and eventually the world will have labor to complete all of this. If you think you need a project done in the future, the future is here. Start planning now. Personally enjoy the people you love more and let it all go, for your sake.
